FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

N.J. Software Consulting Firm Sold Sage Practice; Will Continue Servicing Other Leading Software Brands

Cranford, NJ (September 1, 2009) — Solution Strategists, Inc., a software consulting firm here, announced that it has sold its Sage software consulting practice to Net@Work, a leading Sage business partner with headquarters in New York, NY. Solution Strategists will maintain its current representation of other technology software solutions, namely Deltek Vision, Intuit QuickBooks Enterprise and T-1 eProcessManager.

“Net@Work is one of the most respected Sage business partners in the nation. Over the years, they have gained a well-deserved reputation for superior customer service and support,” said Arthur E. Nathan, president and co-founder of Solution Strategists. “I have every confidence that this transition will be fluid, without any service gaps to our loyal customer base.”

Solution Strategists was established in 1986 by Nathan and his wife Joan, originally as a CPA firm. Over the years, the company evolved into a multi-million dollar software consulting firm, adding partner Robert Herman to head its technology division. The company has been recognized for its superior technology service by Accounting Technology magazine with its prestigious Pacesetter Award (seven-time recipient).

Reflecting on this new phase in his 23-year old practice, Nathan states, “We are excited about the opportunities we have to now focus exclusively on the Deltek, Intuit and eProcessManager products that we sell. These respected software brands allow us to share our needs-analysis and software implementation and service expertise with growing professional service firms in New Jersey and New York.”
